Dear Amit Ji,

Below is the brief text on the suggested lightning detector.
This is self explanatory.
This is proposal is from NRSC, ISRO, Hyderabad.

In addition to this, we can again restart our ozone observations.

Please let me know your views.

Thanks and regards,

"Greetings from National Remote Sensing Centre, Indian Space Research Organization"

You may be aware, that, atmospheric lightning causes i) causalities, ii) NOx production in the atmosphere, which is a precursor to Ozone production, and iii) severe weather conditions leading to extreme events such as cloudburst. In recent times, there are reports that changing climate may result in increased occurrence of lightning. In view of this, National Remote Sensing Centre, ISRO has started establishing Lightning detection system (LDS) network in the country in a phased manner. In this regard, a network of 20 sensors has been set up covering North-East, Central, East Coast and Southern region of India. The initial efforts demonstrated its utility in detection of the cloud-to-ground lightning flashes and geo-locating its occurrences.

In connection with the above, we request your support and cooperation as we intend to locate one of the detectors at Jhansi. We would be delighted to have an association with your department of your esteemed university because Atmospheric lightning may be of interest of research while the huge data collected may provide opportunity to other huge data research activities. We need your university to help us in continuous and long term data collection. Immediate support needed from your university would be to provide a suitable and secure roof top area of 5ft x 5ft for installing antenna, secure roof UPS power supply for the sensor data acquisition system, and a good internet connection for data transfer. The and a good sensor needs about 30 W of electricity and once installed, it operates unattended unless there exist some serious operates in issue.

After or parallel to the installation of the instrument, we shall enter into an MoU, under which we may be able to enter into support the maintenance of the LDS unit to an extent of Rs 1 Lakh per year. We would like to mention in this context that apart from getting an association with ISRO, the data collected at your center would be available for any joint scientific studies that you may consider or participate in collaboration with Earth and Climate Sciences Area (ECSA), NRSC-ISRO.

Looking forward for your kind reply so that we can initiate official procedure."

Dear Amit Ji,

Below is the brief text on the suggested lightning detector.
This is self explanatory.
This is proposal is from NRSC, ISRO, Hyderabad.

In addition to this, we can again restart our ozone observations.

Please let me know your views.

Thanks and regards,
manish

"Greetings from National Remote Sensing Centre, Indian Space Research Organization"

You may be aware, that, atmospheric lightning causes i) causalities, ii) NOx production in the atmosphere, which is a precursor to Ozone production, and iii) severe weather conditions leading to extreme events such as cloudburst. In recent times, there are reports that changing climate may result in increased occurrence of lightning. In view of this, National Remote Sensing Centre, ISRO has started establishing Lightning detection system (LDS) network in the country in a phased manner. In this regard, a network of 20 sensors has been set up covering North-East, Central, East Coast and Southern region of India. The initial efforts demonstrated its utility in detection of the cloud-to-ground lightning flashes and geo-locating its occurrences.

In connection with the above, we request your support and cooperation as we intend to locate one of the detectors at Jhansi. We would be delighted to have an association with your department of your esteemed university because Atmospheric lightning may be of interest of research while the huge data collected may provide opportunity to other huge data research activities. We need your university to help us in continuous and long term data collection. Immediate support needed from your university would be to provide a suitable and secure roof top area of 5ft x 5ft for installing antenna, secure roof UPS power supply for the sensor data acquisition system, and a good internet connection for data transfer. The and a good sensor needs about 30 W of electricity and once installed, it operates unattended unless there exist some serious operates in issue.

After or parallel to the installation of the instrument, we shall enter into an MoU, under which we may be able to enter into support the maintenance of the LDS unit to an extent of Rs 1 Lakh per year. We would like to mention in this context that apart from getting an association with ISRO, the data collected at your center would be available for any joint scientific studies that you may consider or participate in collaboration with Earth and Climate Sciences Area (ECSA), NRSC-ISRO.

Looking forward for your kind reply so that we can initiate official procedure."

Research Project Progress Report

1. Project title:

Anti-obesity studies on selected medicinal plants

2. Introduction

Obesity is a nutritional and metabolic disorder with excessive body fat due to extreme disequilibrium between energy uptake and expenditure. Considered as global epidemic, it is a major risk factor for diabetes, cardiovascular diseases, several forms of cancer (such as breast, colon and prostate), pulmonary, osteo-articular and metabolic diseases. According to the World Health Organization (WHO), obesity is one of the most common public health problems worldwide. WHO World Health Statistics Report 2012 states that globally one in six adults is obese (12% of the world's population are considered obese) and nearly 2.8 million individuals die each year due to obesity which makes it the fifth leading risk for global deaths. The current recommendations for the management of obesity in people include life style modification with increased physical activity and reduced calories intake, but when the behavioral approach is not sufficient, intervention of pharmacotherapy is required. In past 2-3 decades, numerous drugs have been approved for the treatment of obesity; however, most of them have been withdrawn from the market because of their ill effects. For example, amphetamine, rimonabant and sibutramine licenses have been withdrawn due to an increased risk of psychiatric disorders and non-fatal myocardial infarction or stroke. Orlistat is amongst the few prescribed drug for obesity because of its safety for cardiovascular events and positive effects on diabetic control, but there are recent reports of toxicity of this drug in long term use.

The side effects associated with prolonged use of anti-obesity drugs necessitated search for other alternatives including the herbal drugs. There are few reports of use of medicinal plants in management of obesity. However, the studies on anti-obesity properties of these plants are fraught with numerous problems. First, the mechanisms of action of most of the plants are undefined and, therefore, in-depth explorations are required. Secondly, the plant formulations have not been tested for safety in long term use. Hence this project is written for assessing the anti-obesity potential of selected medicinal plant extracts/formulations in laboratory animals along with safety/toxicity analysis.

Sehrawat

3. Objectives:

1. Phytochemical analysis and HPLC profiling of the selected medicinal plant extracts/formulation.
2. To study the anti-obesity effect of selected medicinal plant extracts/formulation on normal and obese rats by anthropometric measurements and biochemical assays.
3. To study anti lipase activity of selected medicinal plant extracts/formulation on normal and obese rats.
4. Toxicological and safety studies of selected medicinal plant extracts/formulation on normal and obese rats.

Budget

S.N.	Budget Head	Amount in Rs.
1	Fellowship @ Rs. 10,000 per month	1,20,000/-
2	Contingency	1,75,000/-
3	Overhead @ 5%	14,750/-
Total Rs. Three Lacs Nine Thousand Seven Hundred Fifty Only		3,09,750/-

4. Progress Report

Anti-obesity formulation:

Antiobesity formulation consisting of selected medicinal plants was obtained from Sree Baidyanath, Jhansi. The granules of the material were grinded at low speed in grinder to obtain coarse power. The power was mixed in the standard as well as high fat diet as per experimental plan given below.

Animals:

Male and female Swiss albino mice (20-25g) were procured from Defence Research Development Establishment (DRDE), Gwalior, Madhya Pradesh. The animals are housed in polypropylene cages and maintained under controlled room temperature ( $22 \pm 2^\circ\text{C}$ ) and humidity ( $50 \pm 5\%$ ) with 12 h light and 12 h dark cycle.

Institutional Animal Ethics Committee (IAEC) vide reference no. BU/Pharm/IAEC/a/17/11 approved the animal experimental protocol for this study.

Animal feed and dosing:

High fat diet (containing 25% starch, 20% casein, 10% sucrose, 7% soybean oil, 28% lard, 5% cellulose, 1% vitamin mixture, 3.5% mineral mixture, 0.2% choline chloride and 0.3% methionine) and normal rodent chow diet were purchased from National Centre for Animal Laboratory Sciences (NCLAS), National Institute of Nutrition (NIN), Hyderabad, Andhra

Pradesh. The powder of anti-obesity formulation (2 and 4%) was mixed with standard chew to make 2 and 4% standard diet formulation and with high fat diet (HFD) to make 2 and 4% NFD formulation. Mice are fed normal diet and high fat diet in a pellet form and water ad libitum. The standard antiobesity drug was obtained from Sigma Merch, St. Louis, USA and Freshly prepared Orlistat (5 mg/kg body weight) was given to mice daily with the help of a feeding needle.

The experimental plan is given as under:

Group No.	Diet/Treatment Plan
I	Normal diet for 12 weeks
II	Normal diet + 2% anti-obesity formulation for 12 weeks
III	Normal diet + 4% anti-obesity formulation for 12 weeks
IV	High fat diet for 12 weeks
V	High fat diet + 2% formulation for 12 weeks
VI	High fat diet + 4% formulation for 12 weeks
VII	High fat diet + 5mg/kg body weight Orlistat for 12 weeks
VIII	High fat diet for 06 weeks + 2% anti-obesity formulation for next 06 weeks
IX	High fat diet for 06 weeks + 4% anti-obesity formulation for next 06 weeks
X	High fat diet for 06 weeks + 5mg/kg body weight Orlistat for next 06 weeks
Total

The animal experiments are complete and the analyses of the sample are under process for compilation of final report.

Progress Report

'Baidyanath Young Entrepreneur Fellowship Program'

Session-2015-16

As per fellowship guidelines, approved by the university the selected fellows of the fellowship program were engaged in Quality control, In-vitro toxicological evaluation, detection of microbial contamination of raw materials & finished products using HPLC, GC/GC-MS & cell lines. During the fellowship period students got hands on training on advanced research instruments like HPLC and GC-MS and performed tasks given in their allotted projects including quality control analysis of various formulations given by Baidyanath Ayurved Bhawan, Jhansi. Detail of few of the analysis reports of GC-MS are enclosed herewith. However, due to full day engagement of selected students in their theory and practical classes of the M.Sc. course work, sometimes they completed their tasks in more than expected time, but overall students learned basic laboratory practices and got good exposure of laboratory processes during the fellowship period.

Research Project Progress Report

1. Project title:

Anti-obesity studies on selected medicinal plants

2. Introduction

Obesity is a nutritional and metabolic disorder with excessive body fat due to extreme disequilibrium between energy uptake and expenditure. Considered as global epidemic, it is a major risk factor for diabetes, cardiovascular diseases, several forms of cancer (such as breast, colon and prostate), pulmonary, osteo-articular and metabolic diseases. According to the World Health Organization (WHO), obesity is one of the most common public health problems worldwide. WHO World Health Statistics Report 2012 states that globally one in six adults is obese (12% of the world's population are considered obese) and nearly 2.8 million individuals die each year due to obesity which makes it the fifth leading risk for global deaths. The current recommendations for the management of obesity in people include life style modification with increased physical activity and reduced calories intake, but when the behavioral approach is not sufficient, intervention of pharmacotherapy is required. In past 2-3 decades, numerous drugs have been approved for the treatment of obesity; however, most of them have been withdrawn from the market because of their ill effects. For example, amphetamine, rimonabant and sibutramine licenses have been withdrawn due to an increased risk of psychiatric disorders and non-fatal myocardial infarction or stroke. Orlistat is amongst the few prescribed drug for obesity because of its safety for cardiovascular events and positive effects on diabetic control, but there are recent reports of toxicity of this drug in long term use.

The side effects associated with prolonged use of anti-obesity drugs necessitated search for other alternatives including the herbal drugs. There are few reports of use of medicinal plants in management of obesity. However, the studies on anti-obesity properties of these plants are fraught with numerous problems. First, the mechanisms of action of most of the plants are undefined and, therefore, in-depth explorations are required. Secondly, the plant formulations have not been tested for safety in long term use. Hence this project is written for assessing the anti-obesity potential of selected medicinal plant extracts/formulations in laboratory animals along with safety/toxicity analysis.

Sehrawat

3. Objectives:

1. Phytochemical analysis and HPLC profiling of the selected medicinal plant extracts/formulation.
2. To study the anti-obesity effect of selected medicinal plant extracts/formulation on normal and obese rats by anthropometric measurements and biochemical assays.
3. To study anti lipase activity of selected medicinal plant extracts/formulation on normal and obese rats.
4. Toxicological and safety studies of selected medicinal plant extracts/formulation on normal and obese rats.

Budget

S.N.	Budget Head	Amount in Rs.
1	Fellowship @ Rs. 10,000 per month	1,20,000/-
2	Contingency	1,75,000/-
3	Overhead @ 5%	14,750/-
Total Rs. Three Lacs Nine Thousand Seven Hundred Fifty Only		3,09,750/-

4. Progress Report

Anti-obesity formulation:

Antiobesity formulation consisting of selected medicinal plants was obtained from Sree Baidyanath, Jhansi. The granules of the material were grinded at low speed in grinder to obtain coarse power. The power was mixed in the standard as well as high fat diet as per experimental plan given below.

Animals:

Male and female Swiss albino mice (20-25g) were procured from Defence Research Development Establishment (DRDE), Gwalior, Madhya Pradesh. The animals are housed in polypropylene cages and maintained under controlled room temperature ( $22 \pm 2^\circ\text{C}$ ) and humidity ( $50 \pm 5\%$ ) with 12 h light and 12 h dark cycle.

Institutional Animal Ethics Committee (IAEC) vide reference no. BU/Pharm/IAEC/a/17/11 approved the animal experimental protocol for this study.

Animal feed and dosing:

High fat diet (containing 25% starch, 20% casein, 10% sucrose, 7% soybean oil, 28% lard, 5% cellulose, 1% vitamin mixture, 3.5% mineral mixture, 0.2% choline chloride and 0.3% methionine) and normal rodent chow diet were purchased from National Centre for Animal Laboratory Sciences (NCLAS), National Institute of Nutrition (NIN), Hyderabad, Andhra

Pradesh. The powder of anti-obesity formulation (2 and 4%) was mixed with standard chew to make 2 and 4% standard diet formulation and with high fat diet (HFD) to make 2 and 4% NFD formulation. Mice are fed normal diet and high fat diet in a pellet form and water ad libitum. The standard antiobesity drug was obtained from Sigma Merch, St. Louis, USA and Freshly prepared Orlistat (5 mg/kg body weight) was given to mice daily with the help of a feeding needle.

The experimental plan is given as under:

Group No.	Diet/Treatment Plan
I	Normal diet for 12 weeks
II	Normal diet + 2% anti-obesity formulation for 12 weeks
III	Normal diet + 4% anti-obesity formulation for 12 weeks
IV	High fat diet for 12 weeks
V	High fat diet + 2% formulation for 12 weeks
VI	High fat diet + 4% formulation for 12 weeks
VII	High fat diet + 5mg/kg body weight Orlistat for 12 weeks
VIII	High fat diet for 06 weeks + 2% anti-obesity formulation for next 06 weeks
IX	High fat diet for 06 weeks + 4% anti-obesity formulation for next 06 weeks
X	High fat diet for 06 weeks + 5mg/kg body weight Orlistat for next 06 weeks
Total

The animal experiments are complete and the analyses of the sample are under process for compilation of final report.

Research Project Progress Report

1. Project title:

Anti-obesity studies on selected medicinal plants

2. Introduction

Obesity is a nutritional and metabolic disorder with excessive body fat due to extreme disequilibrium between energy uptake and expenditure. Considered as global epidemic, it is a major risk factor for diabetes, cardiovascular diseases, several forms of cancer (such as breast, colon and prostate), pulmonary, osteo-articular and metabolic diseases. According to the World Health Organization (WHO), obesity is one of the most common public health problems worldwide. WHO World Health Statistics Report 2012 states that globally one in six adults is obese (12% of the world's population are considered obese) and nearly 2.8 million individuals die each year due to obesity which makes it the fifth leading risk for global deaths. The current recommendations for the management of obesity in people include life style modification with increased physical activity and reduced calories intake, but when the behavioral approach is not sufficient, intervention of pharmacotherapy is required. In past 2-3 decades, numerous drugs have been approved for the treatment of obesity; however, most of them have been withdrawn from the market because of their ill effects. For example, amphetamine, rimonabant and sibutramine licenses have been withdrawn due to an increased risk of psychiatric disorders and non-fatal myocardial infarction or stroke. Orlistat is amongst the few prescribed drug for obesity because of its safety for cardiovascular events and positive effects on diabetic control, but there are recent reports of toxicity of this drug in long term use.

The side effects associated with prolonged use of anti-obesity drugs necessitated search for other alternatives including the herbal drugs. There are few reports of use of medicinal plants in management of obesity. However, the studies on anti-obesity properties of these plants are fraught with numerous problems. First, the mechanisms of action of most of the plants are undefined and, therefore, in-depth explorations are required. Secondly, the plant formulations have not been tested for safety in long term use. Hence this project is written for assessing the anti-obesity potential of selected medicinal plant extracts/formulations in laboratory animals along with safety/toxicity analysis.

Sehrawat

3. Objectives:

1. Phytochemical analysis and HPLC profiling of the selected medicinal plant extracts/formulation.
2. To study the anti-obesity effect of selected medicinal plant extracts/formulation on normal and obese rats by anthropometric measurements and biochemical assays.
3. To study anti lipase activity of selected medicinal plant extracts/formulation on normal and obese rats.
4. Toxicological and safety studies of selected medicinal plant extracts/formulation on normal and obese rats.

4. Progress Report

Anti-obesity formulation:

Antiobesity formulation consisting of selected medicinal plants was obtained from Sree Baidyanath, Jhansi. The granules of the material were grinded at low speed in grinder to obtain coarse power. The power was mixed in the standard as well as high fat diet as per experimental plan given below.

Animals:

Male and female Swiss albino mice (20-25g) were procured from Defence Research Development Establishment (DRDE), Gwalior, Madhya Pradesh. The animals are housed in polypropylene cages and maintained under controlled room temperature ( $22 \pm 2^\circ\text{C}$ ) and humidity ( $50 \pm 5\%$ ) with 12 h light and 12 h dark cycle.

Institutional Animal Ethics Committee (IAEC) vide reference no. BU/Pharm/IAEC/a/17/11 approved the animal experimental protocol for this study.

Animal feed and dosing:

High fat diet (containing 25% starch, 20% casein, 10% sucrose, 7% soybean oil, 28% lard, 5% cellulose, 1% vitamin mixture, 3.5% mineral mixture, 0.2% choline chloride and 0.3% methionine) and normal rodent chow diet were purchased from National Centre for Animal Laboratory Sciences (NCLAS), National Institute of Nutrition (NIN), Hyderabad, Andhra

Pradesh. The powder of anti-obesity formulation (2 and 4%) was mixed with standard chew to make 2 and 4% standard diet formulation and with high fat diet (HFD) to make 2 and 4% NFD formulation. Mice are fed normal diet and high fat diet in a pellet form and water ad libitum. The standard antiobesity drug was obtained from Sigma Merch, St. Louis, USA and Freshly prepared Orlistat (5 mg/kg body weight) was given to mice daily with the help of a feeding needle.

The experimental plan is given as under:

Group No.	Diet/Treatment Plan
I	Normal diet for 12 weeks
II	Normal diet + 2% anti-obesity formulation for 12 weeks
III	Normal diet + 4% anti-obesity formulation for 12 weeks
IV	High fat diet for 12 weeks
V	High fat diet + 2% formulation for 12 weeks
VI	High fat diet + 4% formulation for 12 weeks
VII	High fat diet + 5mg/kg body weight Orlistat for 12 weeks
VIII	High fat diet for 06 weeks + 2% anti-obesity formulation for next 06 weeks
IX	High fat diet for 06 weeks + 4% anti-obesity formulation for next 06 weeks
X	High fat diet for 06 weeks + 5mg/kg body weight Orlistat for next 06 weeks
Total

The animal experiments are complete and the analyses of the sample are under process for compilation of final report.

Progress Report

'Baidyanath Young Entrepreneur Fellowship Program'

Session-2015-16

As per fellowship guidelines, approved by the university the selected fellows of the fellowship program were engaged in Quality control, In-vitro toxicological evaluation, detection of microbial contamination of raw materials & finished products using HPLC, GC/GC-MS & cell lines. During the fellowship period students got hands on training on advanced research instruments like HPLC and GC-MS and performed tasks given in their allotted projects including quality control analysis of various formulations given by Baidyanath Ayurved Bhawan, Jhansi. Detail of few of the analysis reports of GC-MS are enclosed herewith. However, due to full day engagement of selected students in their theory and practical classes of the M.Sc. course work, sometimes they completed their tasks in more than expected time, but overall students learned basic laboratory practices and got good exposure of laboratory processes during the fellowship period.

Antiobesity formulation consisting of selected medicinal plants was obtained from Sree Baidyanath, Jhansi. The granules of the material were grinded at low speed in grinder to obtain coarse power. The power was mixed in the standard as well as high fat diet as per experimental plan given below.

Animals:

Male and female Swiss albino mice (20-25g) were procured from Defence Research Development Establishment (DRDE), Gwalior, Madhya Pradesh. The animals are housed in polypropylene cages and maintained under controlled room temperature ( $22 \pm 2^\circ\text{C}$ ) and humidity ( $50 \pm 5\%$ ) with 12 h light and 12 h dark cycle.

Institutional Animal Ethics Committee (IAEC) vide reference no. BU/Pharm/IAEC/a/17/11 approved the animal experimental protocol for this study.

Animal feed and dosing:

High fat diet (containing 25% starch, 20% casein, 10% sucrose, 7% soybean oil, 28% lard, 5% cellulose, 1% vitamin mixture, 3.5% mineral mixture, 0.2% choline chloride and 0.3% methionine) and normal rodent chow diet were purchased from National Centre for Animal Laboratory Sciences (NCLAS), National Institute of Nutrition (NIN), Hyderabad, Andhra

Pradesh. The powder of anti-obesity formulation (2 and 4%) was mixed with standard chew to make 2 and 4% standard diet formulation and with high fat diet (HFD) to make 2 and 4% NFD formulation. Mice are fed normal diet and high fat diet in a pellet form and water ad libitum. The standard antiobesity drug was obtained from Sigma Merch, St. Louis, USA and Freshly prepared Orlistat (5 mg/kg body weight) was given to mice daily with the help of a feeding needle.

The experimental plan is given as under:

Group No.	Diet/Treatment Plan
I	Normal diet for 12 weeks
II	Normal diet + 2% anti-obesity formulation for 12 weeks
III	Normal diet + 4% anti-obesity formulation for 12 weeks
IV	High fat diet for 12 weeks
V	High fat diet + 2% formulation for 12 weeks
VI	High fat diet + 4% formulation for 12 weeks
VII	High fat diet + 5mg/kg body weight Orlistat for 12 weeks
VIII	High fat diet for 06 weeks + 2% anti-obesity formulation for next 06 weeks
IX	High fat diet for 06 weeks + 4% anti-obesity formulation for next 06 weeks
X	High fat diet for 06 weeks + 5mg/kg body weight Orlistat for next 06 weeks
Total

The animal experiments are complete and the analyses of the sample are under process for compilation of final report.

Progress Report

'Baidyanath Young Entrepreneur Fellowship Program'

Session-2015-16

As per fellowship guidelines, approved by the university the selected fellows of the fellowship program were engaged in Quality control, In-vitro toxicological evaluation, detection of microbial contamination of raw materials & finished products using HPLC, GC/GC-MS & cell lines. During the fellowship period students got hands on training on advanced research instruments like HPLC and GC-MS and performed tasks given in their allotted projects including quality control analysis of various formulations given by Baidyanath Ayurved Bhawan, Jhansi. Detail of few of the analysis reports of GC-MS are enclosed herewith. However, due to full day engagement of selected students in their theory and practical classes of the M.Sc. course work, sometimes they completed their tasks in more than expected time, but overall students learned basic laboratory practices and got good exposure of laboratory processes during the fellowship period.
